REPORT FROM THE REGATTA FIELD
 TONČI ANTUNOVIĆ, PRESIDENT OF THE REGATTA COMMITTEE

A GREAT START

Even though they were cold, drenched from the rain and beaten by the strong NE wind, all participants returned from the sea in good spirits. The competition went off without a hitch.

There were no problems during the events even though the wind was blowing with gusts of over 30 knots which made everyone's job at sea quite difficult. Special attention was paid to the last boats which sailed through the rough seas and wind with more difficulty, but the people in charge of safety at sea, lead by Kolja Grigono did their job tremendously well.

— All boats are in harbour – message arrived through the radio station at 16.40.

As far as the yachtsmen are concerned, they all expressed their satisfaction with the organisation, especially at sea, which was under the direction of Tonči Antunović, president of the Regatta Committee.

— Even though sailing conditions were not in our favour, everything went well and the entire fleet showed that they handle all weather conditions well – first man of the Regatta committee revealed.

Rough weather and so called dirty bora, cold and rainy conditions all marked the beginning of the 9th edition of this regatta, but the only thing that really matters is that everything else is perfect order!

On the second day of sailing (Friday) first start is expected at 12:00.

— We will mark the beginning of the race at noon, if conditions allow. If we have around 20 knots of wind we will head for the sea, but if the weather predictions turn out to be true and we find ourselves facing hurricane strength NE wind, then we will stay on dry land - Tonči Antunović summed up the itinerary for the second day of SOSW.

9. SPLIT OLYMPIC SAILING WEEK

FIRST DAY OF THE REGATTA MARKED BY THE SOUTHERN WIND, RAIN AND COLD WEATHER

Southern wind filled the sails

International regatta SOSW-e, with 70 yachtsmen from 11 countries in 4 classes, started with the 24 knot NE wind with occasional gusts of over 30 knots, resulting in two completed events

Participants of the 9th international regatta for Olympic classes Split Olympic Sailing Week which is organised by sailing club Labud from Split, were greeted by less than an ideal weather forecast.

Strong NE wind welcomed 70 yachtsmen from 11 countries competing in four classes; Finn, laser standard, laser radial and 470. Competitors headed out to the sea around 12:30 to the regatta field towards Čiovo and class 470 was the first to start. However, yachtsmen did not have a pleasant time at sea with NE winds of up to 24 knots and gusts of over 30 knots at times along with cold rain.

In spite of all the difficulties, two events were successfully concluded even though some skippers withdrew from the event and returned to dry land early because they were unable to handle fight strong winds. Some of them ended up overboard, unplanned of course, like our veteran duo in class 470 Ivica Bonacin and Goran Urlič.

— The sea is warm! We just wanted to check the temperature – the guys, veteran world champions in 2011 and vice-champions in 2012, joked.

First windy and rainy battle was concluded by the skippers in class Finn.

In spite of all the difficulties, two events were successfully concluded even though some skippers withdrew from the event and returned to dry land early because they were unable to handle fight strong winds.

— None of us tipped over and I am more than happy with my performance- said young Josip Olujić, a member of our host club who finished third and first and added:

— In the second event I took the lead and controlled it until the end.

Milan Vujasinović, member of SK Split that has only been sailing in Finn for about a month after years of competing in laser is also pleased with his performance. Milan, better known as Dugi (Long) was second in both events.

— Two second places in less than a month of training, who wouldn't be satisfied? I had solid speed but also had quite a few mistakes which is expected when going into a different class – said this skipper stating also that it is noticeable how the form is not up to the standard it should be.

That is not surprising considering that after a winter training period this is the first regatta and more or less a chance to check what was done during winter.

Croatia's best Finn representative Ivan Kljaković-Gašpić sailed well but a malfunction on the boat threw him out of the second event.

— I lost the rudder, it happens, it's not a big deal – said Bambi who had the best result in the first event but had to drop out of the second event due to technical difficulties.

But Bambi was not overly satisfied, not everything is yet in place for the upcoming season and he is also busy studying for his final exam at the Faculty of Economics. But he will be back at sea tomorrow, the rudder is now fixed and new duels await.

Apart from Bambi who is always great at sea, girls from Zadar Enina Ninčević and Romana Župan from SK Uskok also had a great day leaving everyone but the Italian duo Simon Košuta Sivitz and Jaša Farnetti far behind.

As far as laser standard is concerned, our guest from Poland Kacper Ziemiński took the lead in front of our own Tonči Stipanović from SK Mornar. Tina Mihelić from SK Labud also took the lead without any difficulties in laser radial.

New events will await the fleet tomorrow on the second day of SOSW, planned start is at 12:00 with hopes that the NE wind will not increase to hurricane speed.

YACHTS PARTY TONIGHT

Friday is party day

After a long day of competing, it's time for fun. Organisers of the SOSW, SK Labud, has also organized a party. After returning to dry land, all skippers, crew and umpires will be greeted with a warm meal after which our very own sailing-jamming band Lešo mol (boiled cod) will take the stage.

The party is guaranteed to last until the wee hours of the morning!

Or until the first event on Saturday...

Enjoy!!!

Labud's kitchen is taking great care of competitors

Quintet Apron is cooking for you!

As soon as they return to dry land, all competitors are greeted with a hot meal. Delicacies from the kitchen of JK Labud are the responsibility of a quintet with a very significant name – Apron (or Traverša in Croatian).

— We chose this name for our small culinary team because of the aprons our wives gave us before they let us enter the kitchen – said the head chef Zoran Šimić.

Four more culinary masters share the kitchen with him: Andro Radić, Petar Tudja, Max Škrabar and Ljubo Prijić.

Everything else, from buoys, flags and other important details is the responsibility of Labud's equipment manager Boris Koštić.

LABUD'S 90TH BIRTHDAY NEXT YEAR

Celebrations have already started!

In 2014, Sailing club Labud will celebrate its birthday in style with 90 candles on the birthday cake!

Celebrations that will mark the great jubilee of Croatia's oldest sailing club have started with the international regatta Split Olympic Sailing Week.

All other regattas organised by Labud will have this celebratory, birthday note starting with this year's Komiža regatta and the traditional 82nd Mrduja regatta which will once again gather more than 300 sailboats as well as the toughest one among them – Vis regatta. Let's not forget Little Mrduja, Boris Vujnović Memorial race or the Labud Classic – regatta for traditional wooden boats
