10TH EDITION SPLIT OLYMPIC SAILING WEEK – SEVENTY SAILORS FROM 12 COUNTRIES SAIL

Maestral Shortens the area

A fleet of seventy sailors from twelve countries that were sailing on the 10th anniversary edition of the international sailing regatta Split Olympic Sailing Week, didn't have much luck with wind today. At first the delay was displayed, and the start, planned for the noon, was prolong for two hours. First to cross the starting line of the race field in front of Čiovo were sailors of the class 470 at 14:15. At the time there was about eight knots of maestral but as time went by so did the wind!

In the end of all classes, finn, 470, Laser Standard and Laser Radial, managed to finish one race, third overall in the regatta, but the Lasers had to shorten the race field.

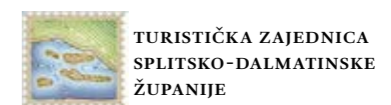

- However, we managed to finish the third race and about 16.30 we signaled for all to return ashore – summarized the events at sea Judge Zlatko Jakelić, one of the Jury members led by International Judge Mari- anne Middelthon from Norway and our chief judge Alen Kustić.

Weak wind today was best used by Tonči Stipanović, a member of Mornar who only fortified his title - No. 1 - on ISAF's ranking among Lasers by adding the third victory, and thus the first place overall in SOSW - in . He is closely followed by his club colleague Filip Jurišić, while in third place is Poland's Kacper Zieminski.

Convincingly in front of all other crews are crew from JK Trogir Ante Botica and Jure Vuletić, who were fastest among the class 470. They are followed by Turks Sebahattin Tora Kutoglu and Abdullah Baglica, as well as third-placed brothers Gergely and Daniel Bihary from Hungary.

In the Finn class, the change at the top occurred due to illness. In fact, our best sailor is Labud's Ivan Kljaković - Gaspić, on the first day had easily reached number one position in both races, but dropped out of today's race due to high temperature, so the leadership took another Labud member Nenad Bugarin.

As for the Laser Radial the current World champion Tina Mihelić (Labud) had a great start of the regatta however during the second race had problems, including damage to the hull, and today failed to take the victory although still has the lead overall!

So today among the Radial Fleet (21 competitors in total) celebrated Mario Novak from JK Split in front of Ana Zelić from Labud and her brother Miro.

Thus, in the first two days of sailing tenth SOSW, Croatian sailors proved to be rude hosts - keeping all the best places for themselves. And how will the guests handle below sailing in the fourth Race remains to be seen. The next race is scheduled to start Tuesday at 11 am, Weathermen are calling a storm that will intensify in the afternoon!

WE WERE TOLD

Waiting and shortage of wind today, the second day of racing at the 10th SOSW, tired out sailors, and for statements already commonly we asked winners.

Among the Laser Radial fleet, from twenty-one of them, on Monday that ended in the only race, triumphed Mario Novak from SC Split.

- Today served me everything at sea, I was focused on every wind shift, had speed, and chose the good side with the wind - says this 18-year-old student of Split's Maritime School, course direction - Nautic.

He was not distracted by passing the target as champion a shortage of south-west and west wind, or even shorten the field by the judges, he was simply the fastest. Although he came over this race as training for his current ride, ups, sails on two tracks.

- With club colleague Lota Copić I train in 470 crew and we are preparing for international events. In same time I sail in Laser Radial where I'm now in the senior competition and I work on my shape for a performance at the European Championships organized in June from my mother club Split - gave us the plans helmsman Novak, who won the third race on the second day of the regatta, which finally secures the 4th position among Radial sailors, in men's and women's competition.

The order is still leading Tina Mihelić, despite problems with the boat, while in today's race behind Mario Novak in goal second entered Ana Zelić, another member of the YC Labud.

- First going upwind and I didn't sailed the best and still losing speed downwind, but the second upwind smiled me the luck. I made up for lost time, remained on the right side and came as the second total, or the first woman - tells us as the boat taken out 18-year-old fourth-grade High School, who began his sailing steps at SC Marina Kaštela, and then after crossing the optimist in larger classes, arrived in YC Labud, where only string good results.

Specifically, Ana is the owner and Croatian champion titles in the optimist class, for sailors under the age of 15 years, and has done it in the smallest class of Lasers that of sails 4.7, and then the Laser Radial. In addition to what has become the owner of the state champion titles, boast that along with hers brother Miro same year was the best in the country.

Sister and brother Zelić climbed the podium of national championship 2011th as the best Optimists.

- Today in finish I entered behind my sister. I had a bad start and only in second race I sailed good and managed to get by choosing the right side, which in that moment brought more wind - we found out from this 16-year-old second-grade student of School of electrical engineering Split.

So tells us today's winners, while others waiting for a new day tomorrow. All rejoice announced north-east wind (Bura).

- The first race on Tuesday, the third day of sailing, is scheduled for 11 am with the possibility of delay. Specifically, according to the forecast Bura should be to reinforce the afternoon - we learn from Alen Kustić, Chief Judge.

Also forecasters announcing the reinforcement barrel on Wednesday, which would certainly result in the superb sailing on the last day of the regatta. So at the race area should be all of sea dust...

THE OLDEST SAILOR ON 10TH SOSW

I follow good also the three time younger!

Marin Mrduljaš long been sailing legend, especially in the Finn class. For years, this experienced helmsman in heavyweight dinghy raided racing field, as part of a trio of great Labud sailors: Minski Fabris, Lukša Cicarelli and Marin Mrduljaš.

Often they sailed on SOSW side by side and with a lot, however half his age even three time younger sailors, but this year due to shortage of equipment for the boat, dropped the advent of the 10th anniversary edition of this international regatta just the one master - Marin.

- Minski and Lukša did not have complete equipment for the boat, so I'm the only one of those more experienced, with a head full of grays - with smile tells us this very vital 63-year-old, who a member of the YC Labud became immediately after birth. Father Elko immediately signed him to FC Hajduk, RC Gusar and YC Labud.

The oldest skipper in the regatta is not the worst. Indeed, in the third lead, the second day of racing came in as the second!

- It's hard to keep track of the young in the physical part, by pumping, my heart would blow up. But today, when was only important technique, I came on my own. Experience has brought results. Fits me and strong wind, but as I have not long been practiced, in shape should be returned, and I'm not so young for immediately retrain.

But Marin was not powerless in the sea, because when he retired past three months he trains every day since then.

As the work of professional sailors, Fabris and Marin every morning visiting gym from 9-10 am, followed by a short break and go to the sea from 1-4 pm.

- Get ready for the World Masters Championships which will be held June 7th to 13th in Poland. Let's get a few more medals. And Minski, and Lukša and I have lot of them already won. Here I have two world title for the category 50-60 years. But now jumped into higher one, one older class for 60 to 70 years, so medal will not miss. He smiled at us, but we do not doubt in the implementation of this plan.

In fact, it is very much active, that scene of experienced sailors who continue to sail in the Finn class after the age of forty. At world and european festivals starts from three hundred, sometimes more than three hundred and fifty participants. Oh, there are no masters in this class in the world!

- Only in Germany or the Netherlands over a thousand of them sailing, every weekend with an event, a championship. And besides good sailing, they are having fun too - adds Mrduljaš, and so he is ready to sail in Poland.

He had lucky and his sponsors bought the boat, equipment and ensure funding for the World festival.

- I thank them for this opportunity and to my firm, to Vicka Batinić and Ilija Naletilić for finding new boat, this modern one, which is much faster and easier than when we sailed as a youth. Then everybody had a different boat so your knowledge and experience was not that important, but the quality of the boat and equipment. And now we all have the same boats, which are much lighter than in my time. Then were Finns dinghy weigh over 140 kg, while my new one weighs 117 kg. There are around, dinghy's and my weight - continued in a mock tone experienced helmsman Mrduljaš revealing another plan:

- My plan is to buy a camper and next year have a real tour of the regatta. He'll lead with him granddaughter Marina, now six-year old, which is also a member of YC Labud of birth. Oh, we are sports family, mother is a swimmer, father and uncle rowers, my brother Duško is a rower too, and brother Nikša a sailor.
